DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

THE GEORGIA CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION—CLOSING ADDRESS OF THE HON. B. H. HILL, ITS PRESIDENT.

Gentlemen of the Convention: Before pronouncing this Convention adjourned, I hope you will pardon me the liberty of a parting word.

Your work in Convention is done, and well done. It will carry gladness to the hearts of your constituents and inspire hope for your children. And thousands of noble and true men far away, and throughout the North, will read the words of manliness and patriotism which you have this day pronounced, and will rejoice and take courage.

Too long have the Southern people been traduced, their motions maligned, and their purposes misrepresented. And by whom? By those who had closed their mouths, and denied them the opportunity of being heard in either refutation or explanation. Too long have the faithful defenders of the Constitution and of our rights under the Constitution been compelled to stand in the breach and wage the battle in our behalf without the encouragement of a word from their victims of the bayonet. At last you have spoken, and every word you have uttered and every meaning you have felt or expressed brands the charges of your enemies and oppressors as slanderous and traitorously false.

Never, my friends, be afraid of the truth. Never be afraid to speak, to act, to defend the truth. In proportion as you have been maligned the Constitution has been tattered and torn. Too long have you been absent from the Councils of the Nation, and during that absence the Constitution has been disregarded, despoiled, trampled upon and cast out. And now, with glad hearts and glorious welcome, the true friends of liberty will hail your coming again! And you will return with an earnest purpose to aid those whom you have left too long in unequal contest, in restoring the Constitution of our fathers and the prosperity of our common country. Do not be discouraged. Stand by the Constitution, and the day of your restoration and its triumph is sure and near.

True, your work in Convention has ended, but the great work has yet to be accomplished. Go home, and as you go, and when you go, speaks words of encouragement and counsel to your neighbors. Let it be in your hearts, in your actions, in your determinations, that this fair land in which we were born and reared ought not, need not, and shall not be brought under the dominion of the negro and destroyed as the heritage of our children.

Organize: in every county organize. Not in secret hidden conclaves as those who do evil, but in the open daylight and before the eyes of men, for the sun in the clearest hour of his noon is not brighter than the glorious purpose which moves you and the high work which you seek to accomplish.

You represent a people who know what sufferings mean. They have lost their property, and buried their children and comrades; they have seen their cities burned and their country laid waste; even now they see their industry paralyzed and their fields lying idle, while their coffers are exhausted and their garners are empty. But, thank God, Georgians are honorable men, and beaming in your faces and sparkling from your eyes I read the firm resolve that Georgians shall ever be honorable! You have indulged no spirit of hate and engaged in no personal animadversions. You have organized no party for spoils, for you are saving a country for your children.

Earnestly hoping that when we meet again we shall still be able to say we have a country worthy of our fathers, worthy of their children and worthy for our children, and with a Constitution supreme over all its enemies, I now pronounce this Convention adjourned without a day.

THE LAWFUL JURY RE-INSTATED.

The order of Gen. Hancock re-instating trial by jury, to its former basis under the laws of the State, serves to reveal, even more than his action in regard to civil offices, the spirit and policy of his administration. This order is founded in the undeniable propositions that it is for the legislative power of the State to prescribe who shall be eligible as jurors, and for the courts of the State to decide upon the qualifications of jurors as defined by existing legislative provisions. Gen. Hancock's predecessor was not content to leave the composition of juries to be determined by the judiciary in exercising its legitimate function of interpreting and applying the laws.

A ground for military interference in this matter was sought in the assumed identity of the qualified voters under the Constitution and laws of the State with the voters under the reconstruction act of Congress.—By the laws of the State it is required that jury lists for this city shall be drawn from the aggregate of qualified voters. But it does not follow that the negroes made voters for an especial occasion by the reconstruction act form a lawful part of this aggregate. According to the Constitution and laws of the State, only white men are qualified voters. It is possible, even, that the Convention, elected mainly by negro votes, may let the limitation of suffrage to white men remain. At all events, before black jurors can be legally drawn by the officers of our State Courts, while the State law respecting juries remains as it is, the Convention referred to must adopt a Constitution which shall confer suffrage on the blacks, and this Constitution must be ratified, as provided in the reconstruction act, and be recognized as obligatory and operative by the judiciary of the State. To overlook the distinctions here indicated, and to seek an argument for a flagrant military interference with the rightful power of the judiciary by confusing persons who have voted under the self-limiting reconstruction act with the qualified voters under the existing Constitution and laws of the State, was something below ordinary pettifogging.—New Orleans Crescent.

From the National Intelligencer.

In California the resolutions adopted by the State Convention were unequivocal in their condemnation of negro suffrage and the usurpation of Congress; and Governor Haight, immediately after his election was announced, addressed the citizens of San Francisco, and proclaimed that the vote of the State was a protest of the people of California against the military bills.

In Ohio the resolutions under which the canvass was conducted denounced, in the most emphatic manner, negro equality in the North and negro supremacy in the South.

In New Jersey the language of the canvass decided against the action and measures of the Congress in every respect mentioned.

And in Pennsylvania the resolutions of the Convention were worthy of the palmy days of Virginia, and re-asserted the great fundamental doctrines of the Virginia and Kentucky platform of '98-'99.

In every State in which the negro suffrage issue was presented, they discarded it with an indignant uprising heretofore unexampled. In Ohio there was a change of nearly one hundred thousand votes. In Pennsylvania the Democratic party overcame the large balance of seventeen thousand standing against them. And in New York the Republican majority of 1866 was not only overcome, but a Democratic majority was carried of nearly fifty thousand.

It follows, then, beyond all cavil, that the people of the North and West have plainly and most substantially condemned and repudiated the negrophobiac policy of the Republican party in Congress. It is also perfectly evident that the mischievous innovations and usurpations of the Republican party, combined of an equal proportion of illiberal Puritanism and licentious optimism, through the legislative power of the Congress, have been equally condemned by the people. It is no less clear that the people have pronounced, with a voice of thunder, which had better be heeded, the military bills to be alike offensive, repulsive, illegal, and inexpedient to American freemen.

Will Congress, in its agency for the Republican party, now venture on the tremendous experiment of hoarding the Northern and Western people? Will the usurpers and revolutionists still have the hardihood and daring effrontery to press their disorganizing schemes to a conclusion so ominous of foreshadowed dangers? We shall see.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1867.

U. S. BANKRUPT LAW.

The number of persons who have sought relief from the Bankrupt law, in this State, seems to be much smaller than was anticipated. There are many objections, in an honest mind, to a Bankrupt law of any kind. Yet there are circumstances under which honest men are fully justified in seeking its advantages. If ever a people can be justified in doing so, it must be the people of the South. Yet many are deterred, first, by the hope that something yet may turn up, which will relieve them, without going into bankruptcy; secondly, by their anxiety that what they have left might and ought to be enjoyed by a particular class of creditors,—minors and others, for instance; thirdly, because they are unwilling to see their property so completely sacrificed as it must be at present; fourthly, because they dislike to have their own creditors sued, at such a time; and fifthly, because they are unwilling to see so large a portion of their small means sacrificed by being paid to officers and attornies.

If the war and the subsequent action of the government had not so entirely ruined almost every one in the South, and if our present circumstances promised any hope of early recuperation, then our people who are hopelessly bankrupt might expect to secure some advantages in the future by holding on to their property; but are not hopes of pecuniary improvement, for the next two years at least, baseless? Even under the most favorable changes in our political condition, and the best legislation which we might anticipate from a Radical Congress, in regard to finance, no man, who looks into the future with any knowledge of the past, can see anything favorable in the pecuniary condition of the South, earlier than in the next four or five years.

We believe the case is so bad a one, that matters must get to the bottom, whither they are fast tending, before there can be any certain, favorable reaction. Even among that class of men, whose property would pay fifty cents in the dollar, few can hope to survive the shock that is coming. How, then, can it be with those who cannot pay fifteen or twenty-five per cent?

Now if the general wreck is avoidable, we are anxious to avoid it. But does any Southern man believe it to be avoidable?—What has been the result of all the toil and energy of our people since the war, but debt, debt, debt! And can it be any better, while labor is so disorganized and growing worse daily? While some of the few men among us, who have a little money, are whetting their long, avaricious teeth daily, and putting the Shylocks of former days utterly to the blush, because of the exorbitance of their demands, is there any hope. Who can pay debts, when property will not bring twenty-five per cent of its value? Who can hope to pay debts, when money cannot be borrowed at less than 33½ per cent, on short time? Is not bankruptcy, legal, honest bankruptcy, better than repudiation? Some ignorant men have been deceived by the pledges of Radical candidates in this State, that the mongrel State Convention, which meets in January next, will repudiate everything. What folly? What will a United States Court care for such repudiation? Is any one so easily duped as to believe that a State Constitution would be worth the paper upon which it is written, if it were to allow repudiation?

We have thought on this subject, and we have been anxious to find out some way of escape for our people, by which they might hope to retain enough of their property to begin life upon and take care of their families, but we have come to the conclusion that the only safe retreat for the Southern people, who are really bankrupt, is the Bankrupt law. That law allows to every man, who has it, enough to enable him to purchase a little homestead, where, by the labor of himself and children, he may make a support for his family. But that, it is said, will make us all poor. So it may.—But is it not better to be legally and honestly poor, than to be dishonestly overwhelmed with debt, to be the butt of Shylocks who will ultimately take all we have, and leave nothing for ourselves or honest creditors.

Heaven knows, we had rather be as poor as church mice, than to mislead one individual into ruin. We, therefore, must say, that it is our deliberate judgment, that every man, or woman, or corporation, in the South, who is really bankrupt, had better go at once into bankruptcy. The Banks of the State, so far as we see, will be forced into it. Who then can stand?

If our views are incorrect, we call upon wiser heads in the State to point out the remedy. It is due to the public, that every man who can enlighten it, should do so at once. In a few months, those who are really bankrupt cannot secure the advantages of the Bankrupt act. We call the attention of our readers to the following brief but clear syllabus of the law. Let the people get all the information they can, and then act wisely:

"Object of the law.—Is to enable persons who cannot pay their debts to get rid of them.

Who may take advantage of this law?

Any person or firm who owes debts to the amount of three hundred dollars or upward, whether they be individual or partnership debts, or both, and it makes no difference what is the character of the indebtedness, whether it be by bill, note, judgment, as principal, or surety, or otherwise.

What does the law permit the applicant?

That he shall surrender his property, except such as is hereafter mentioned, to his creditors, for a pro rata distribution among them.

What does the law permit the applicant to keep?

First—Household and kitchen furniture, and necessaries, to the amount of $500.

Second—The wearing apparel of himself and family.

Third—The uniform, arms and equipments of any person who is or has been a soldier in the militia or the service of the United States.

Fourth—If the applicant is the head of a family, his homestead, to the value of $500. If he has no homestead, then in lieu thereof money or personal property to the value of $500.

The result of taking the benefit of this law is a discharge from all his indebtedness. In cases where there is no contest, it requires from sixty to ninety days to procure this discharge.

This law went into operation on the first day of June, 1867, and persons who propose to avail themselves of its advantages should do so as soon as possible, as they cannot do so after one year from its commencement, unless they can pay fifty cents on the dollar of their indebtedness, or get the consent of a majority in number and value of their creditors."

SENSATIONAL.—A friend has called our attention to two articles in the Standard, which perhaps ought not to pass unnoticed.

The first is an article, professedly from a correspondent, with editorial notes appended, which gives an account of a Confederate soldier, disabled in both arms and legs, who is supposed to have been to the Executive office to obtain commutation, and who in retiring aimed to pass out at the South gate, but, on arriving at the steps, dropped his crutch, and was in a helpless condition. The Senior Editor of the Sentinel is represented by this correspondent as passing by him, "but sees not the poor man." The malicious slanderer, who wrote that article, aims to make the impression that the Senior Editor of the Sentinel did see the man, but passed him unnoticed. He only seeks to cover his malice by saying that we did not see him. The author of that article is capable of manufacturing the entire story out of the whole cloth. It is absolutely certain that, if the thing ever occurred at all, the Senior Editor did not see it, nor did he ever hear of it before his friend pointed it out to him in the Standard.

Those who know the Senior Editor of the Sentinel, and are capable of telling the truth, know full well that, if such a scene had been witnessed by him, he would with alacrity have helped the man, or, if it had been the most obscure negro, he would have gladly relieved him, or, even if he had seen either of the Editors of the Standard in such a sad case, he would have at once relieved him. For the Senior Editor most sincerely believes in loving his enemies and praying for those who despitefully use and persecute him.

The Standard, which never loses an opportunity wantonly and maliciously to assail Gov. Worth, and always without cause, makes this the occasion of a most uncalled for and malicious repetition of its previous attacks upon Gov. Worth in regard to the provision for disabled soldiers. Governor Worth recommended to the Legislature the making of the best provision possible within the means of the State for the disabled soldiers. The laws passed by the Legislature left very little discretion with the Governor in carrying them out. He has done his whole duty and gone as far as the laws would allow him. Every one knows, that the State does not hold a kinder, more benevolent man than Gov. Worth, and that no class of our citizens have more of his sympathy than our disabled soldiers and the poor and needy in the State.

The second article we notice briefly. It is the one in which the Standard defends the Radical nominees for our municipal officers in this city, and in which he threatens to draw a contrast between the personnel of our present Board and the new nominees. It is very probable that the Standard values its present associates more highly than those who are unwilling to admit that they are only the equals of the negro race. "Birds of a feather will flock, &c." We presume no one will object, if the Standard prefers its equals. We complain of no one for selecting his own company. The Sentinel will not descend to personalities unless forced to it, but when the Standard chooses to make the comparison between the old Board and its nominees, we shall not be slow to rebuke its assaults. If the characters of the two Boards are fairly presented to Gen. Canby, we have no fears of his removing the old Board to make place for the one selected by the Standard and its friends.

SCHOOLS.—Gen. Miles, of the Freedmen's Bureau, in a late report, states that about 25,000 colored children have been attending school, a longer or shorter time, during the past year, in this State. There are about 60,000 colored children in the State, and about 120,000 white children. Who will educate our poor white children? Under the present aspect of public affairs, the white children, as a mass, have no prospect of education, because of the utter poverty of the State and the people. Wherever it is possible, neighborhoods should unite to pay a teacher and admit all the white children of the neighborhood free. The colored people must, in the same way, establish schools of their own color, by their own contributions and those of their friends. Years must elapse, we fear, before the old system of Common Schools will be revived with any prospect of succor from the Public School Fund. The excessive tax, both State and Federal, makes it out of the question, for years to come, we fear, to attempt a uniform School tax.

HARD RAIN.—We had on yesterday one of the hardest rains, in this city, for fifteen or twenty minutes, we recollect ever to have seen. Our streets were inundated in a few moments.

RADICAL REGARD FOR THE "POOR WHITES."

We had occasion, some time since, to produce some extracts from a speech of the Hon. Mr. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, a prominent Radical politician, in the lower House of Congress, in which he indulged in the most shameless caricature of the character and condition of those whom he termed the "poor whites" of the South,—including, as he said, by far the larger portion of the population. He described them as living in idleness and abject poverty, or subsisting only by thieving and poaching.

Virtually the same infamous slander has just been re-iterated in the Senate of the United States, by Mr. Drake, the Radical Senator from Missouri, who, in the course of a bitter diatribe against the President, a few days since, and while justifying negro-suffrage, said:

"The negro voters were now as much superior to the WHITE TRASH around them, as the white trash was superior to the negro, when he was in slavery."

We do not know the fact, but we will venture the opinion, that the man Drake, who thus libels the Southern people, is himself a Southern man by birth; for it consists well with the temper and disposition of Southern renegades to villify those whom they have betrayed and by whom they are despised. If he be from the South, he is unlike any of the family of that name with whom we are acquainted. He has gotten so low that they would scorn to recognize him.

But we put Mr. Drake's declaration on record as an illustration of the Radical estimate of the laboring white men of the South. The Radicals are so enamored of Cuffee, that they regard him as a species of ebony demi-god, in comparison with whom the white masses of the South, in point of character, virtue, fitness to enjoy the blessings and capacity to exercise the privileges of government, are an inferior and degraded caste. This is the legitimate tendency of the Radical theory of negro-suffrage and negro-equality. With them, these things mean negro supremacy. Hitherto, they have justified it on the ground of the superior "loyalty" of the blacks, but Radicalism is progressive, and now it is openly defended, on the floor of the United States Senate, on the ground of superior mental and moral aptitudes.

We call the attention of our white working men to this infamous aspersion. They may see in it the hypocrisy of the Radical leaders in this State, who profess, because, just now, they want their votes, to experience such exquisite pleasure in grasping the "hard hand of labor." They may see, as the sure and inevitable result of unqualified negro suffrage, their own debasement and degradation, in all the elements of manhood and in all the competitions of trade, below the level of the African.

We hurl back, with scorn and contempt the infamous libel of this Radical Senator. There is not on the face of the globe a more worthy, industrious, high-minded class of people, than those whom he impudently stigmatizes as "white trash,"—by which offensive epithet he means our laboring classes. The humblest among them is more the peer of this Senator than he is of the "nigger" whom he glorifies.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN WILSON.—We regret to learn that a fire broke out in the Dry Goods Store of a Mr. Walton, in Wilson, on Sunday last, which, before it could be subdued, consumed a large amount of property. The fire originated as above, and then communicated to the adjoining building, occupied by Mr. Rosenthal, Next Messrs. Biggs & Co., grocers, met the same fate; then the adjoining house, occupied by Mr. E. E. Blake, and the next occupied by Mr. Kincaide. So rapid was the spread of the flames, and so threatening for the safety of the town, that it was found necessary to tear down the post-office building, adjoining that of Mr. Kincaide. This stopped the conflagration.

Mr. Walton's stock was entirely consumed, he saving probably but a few hundred dollars worth of goods. His loss is estimated at $7,000. The other dealers were mostly fortunate in saving their stock. The buidings were all composed of wood and consumed very rapidly. It is estimated the entire loss will reach $75,000. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

AN ACT OF SHEER COWARDICE.—From the report of the proceedings in the House of Representatives yesterday, in appears that the District negro equality bill was passed there as well as by the Senate. The passage of this bill is the most cowardly act that any body of men could be guilty of.—There is hardly one man among those who voted for it who would dare to advocate its enforcement in his own State, or his own district, but simply because they have the power, they have attempted to impose upon the people of this District obnoxious and oppressive laws that they dare not even advocate at home. The passage of this bill by Congress is an insult, not only to the people of the District of Columbia, but to the whole country, and particularly to Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, Connecticut, and the other Northern and Western States, which have lately emphatically expressed their opposition to negro suffrage.—Nat. Intel.

It is as certain as day, if the Radicals do not now relax their hold upon the throats of the Southern white population, whether identified with the rebellion or not, the gloomy fate that awaits the negro after the reaction that is now occurring in the North shall swell, as it certainly must, into an overwhelming torrent, will be neither distant nor problematical. The white people of the North and West will in no event sanction the horrid policy of negro supremacy, and their verdict will, in due time, settle the whole question.—New York Herald.

Not the least wonderful of the latter day phenomena is the fact that Boston has elected a Democratic Mayor, and has been the scene of the first Northern meeting protesting against negro suffrage in the South.—Can the leopard change his spots, or the Ethiop his skin? We are strongly inclined to answer in the affirmative.—Petersburg Index.

The last lineal decendant of Robespierre died lately in Vienna. He had papers to prove his claim, and, strange to say, was proud of it.

CONSERVATIVE MEETING IN CHOWAN.

The meeting was called to order by Mr. S. T. Bond. Mr. Saml. Long was chosen Chairman and Mr. W. B. Shepard Secretary.

Mr. W. A. Moore moved that a committee of five be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the object of the meeting. This motion being carried, the Chairman appointed the following named gentlemen: Messrs. A. M. Moore, Saml. T. Bond, Richard D. Simpson, Timothy Ward and A. R. Creecy.

After a short absence the committee reported the accompanying resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the recent election in our State has made apparent to the Conservative people, a united and bitter opposition to every interest not fostered by the Radical party, a persistent attempt to throw the political power into the hands of alien citizens, base demagogues and wicked and malignant men; and whereas it has been, and is now, proclaimed that all who supported Conservative men, are opposed to the government of the United States, enemies to the black people and malcontents and rebels at heart; and whereas, in times of danger, it behooves a law abiding people to consult on the questions that disturb the public, and to frown down all attempts to excite the popular mind and delude unwary persons; and whereas the good people of Chowan County are now and ever have been opposed to any infringement of their rights as citizens, and are now and ever have been advocates of law and order; therefore be it

Resolved, That we behold with regret the systematic course of the black people in trusting so entirely to the professions of unknown strangers and political adventurers, who are so violently opposed to all our interests; that we take this occasion to assure them there has been no desire on our part to deceive or mislead them; that we all regard the question of servitude, as settled by the result of the war, and believe that no man is so visionary as to expect or hope that the institution of slavery will ever be revived; that we are perfectly willing to accord to them all the rights to which they may be entitled under the Constitution.

Resolved, That we are attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States as framed by our forefathers, and as expounded by the great and wise statesmen of the country.

Resolved, That we hail with pleasure the apparent return to reason and justice of the masses of the people, as manifested by the recent elections in the Northern States, and we assure them that no effort will be spared on our part, to restore the State of North Carolina to its proper position in the Union on Constitutional principles.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the encouragement of every interest tending to develope the resources of the State; that we are in favor of a united and liberal inducement to emigrants and are willing to extend to them every advantage in our power; that in our opinion a Convention of all the counties of the 1st. Congressional District, to take into consideration and devise some plan to induce emigration from abroad, would be highly expedient and practical, and to that end we hereby extend a cordial invitation to the people of those counties, to elect delegates to such Convention, to be held in Edenton on some early day.

Resolved, That we favor the organization of a Conservative party, opposed to all the higher law doctrines advocated by ultra men of both sections; that we accept in good faith the results of the war, and throwing aside all former prejudices and resentments call on Conservative men of all parties to unite with us in the work of restoration and peace.

Resolved, That we approve of a Convention of the Conservative men to meet in the city of Raleigh.

Mr. J. B. B. Hathaway then moved that three delegates from each District of the County should be appointed by the Chairman to attend the Conservative Convention to meet in Raleigh. This motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. A. M. Moore then addressed the meeting in an appropriate and animated speech, and was followed by Mr. S. T. Bond with some very sensible and suitable remarks.

It was resolved that these proceedings and resolutions be published in the Raleigh Sentinel and Edenton Transcript.

SAML. LONG, Chm'n.
W. B. SHEPARD, Sec'y.

Impeachment has been put to rest. The National Grand Inquest finds no bill of indictment against Andrew Johnson. Now let us proceed to Retrenchment, Financial Reform, and the final Reconstruction of the States.—N. Y. Tribune, December, 9.

All more cant, Mr. Greeley, and not the stronger for its clothing of capital letters. Your party is like the fruit-stealing school boy in fear of detection. "If I aint whipped now I'll be real good always after this." What you mean to say, Mr. Greeley, is this: "We Have Made Ourselves Ridiculous, Contemptible, And Disgraced The Nation. But perhaps The Nation will Forget It, If We Pay A Little Attention To Our Business Hereafter. And are Real Good Fellows."

Don't deceive yourselves, Messrs. Radicals. You have made your bed, and, nasty as it is, you must lie in it till you are pitchforked to your proper place.—N. Y. World.

SCHOOL GIRLS POISONED BY BELLADONNA.—One day last week a physician in good standing was hurriedly sent for to attend a little girl who had come home from school in absolute convulsions, filling in her time by rolling over the floor and screaming like a mad Indian. The doctor saw evident traces of some sort of poison, and closely questioned the young miss as to what she had been eating, but received the reply, "Nothing." While he was prescribing for patient No. 1, another call came to go a few squares away, where he saw another little lady in the same fix as the first, and while repeating the prescription a third call came, and revealed a similar case exactly.

These three happening in the same neighborhood aroused his suspicions, and while he was unravelling the mystery, the parent of No. 1 came in, and said that after the doctor went away, her little girl confessed the cause of the trouble. The trio of incipient coquettes had heard that the belladonna would make the eyes snap, and wishing to appear very bewitching, they had procured a small phial of which they partook inwardly, and then rubbed their eyes plentifully. The result can be imagined.—One of the girls was totally blind for twenty-four hours, which has fully cured her of the passion for "snapping eyes." Belladonna is not for the school curriculum.—Indianapolis Journal.

Mr. Stevens speaks of the Republicans who voted against impeachment as "the fragment of the party." They numbered 67 against 41 who voted for it—being decidedly a majority. But Mr. Stevens long ago fell into the habit of considering the "fragment" with which he voted as constituting the party—even if he happened to vote alone: and habit is very strong with old men.—N. Y. Times.

Mark Twain, in his lecture on the Sandwich Islands, offers to show how the cannibals eat their food if some lady will hand him a baby.

RUFFIN STATION, N. C., Dec. 9th.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I will be pardoned for bringing before the public the name of one who is justly entitled to your consideration, and one who is "bound to shine" in the future history of our State. The praises of all the great have been written or sung, and their noble deeds have been perpetuated to the honor and glory of the countries that gave them birth, and yet I am afraid that future history will hold us up as recreant to our trust, unfaithful and unappreciative of those striking qualities that mark the man of genius, because a great and shining light has lately appeared upon the political arena with the determination, yea with his banner flung to the breeze, and bidding defiance to all opposition, vows the disenthralment of North Carolina. He is now a member elect to the Convention shortly to be held in your city, and as he will doubtless occupy a conspicuous position in that body, and as he proposes to "lift the veil" on the situation, a few of his antecedents would not be out of place.

Jno. H. French was born in Rockingham county, N. C., of obscure parentage, and about the time babies were born that in after years made soldiers for Lee's army, but when that memorable muss was getting up, the subject of this sketch disappeared from among men and was not, and it was supposed the Lord took him. We here lose sight of him for two years, and at a time, too, when his services were greatly needed by the State, notwithstanding his great desire to serve her in an emergency.—But "the best laid schemes of men and mice oft gang aglee." A party of sappers and miners from the "Kinston war," while in this county on detail and making some subterranean explorations, came unexpectedly upon the body of the "aforesaid," and it was supposed, from his surroundings, that he was "in for the war." What became of him, till now, I know not, but, doubtless, it was his desire to live in retirement the remainder of his days, free from the cares of public life, but, like Cincinnatus of old, he could but hearken to the voice of the people, calling him to the post of danger, and he again buckles on his armor for the conflict. Woto the unlucky wight that happens to fall a victim to his insatiate revenge, happens to wield a blade with him in polemic strife! I bespeak for him a reception becoming his rank and dignity, resting well assured that he will bear off the palm from all competition and be covered all over with glory in the mean time.

Messrs. Editors, if you are willing to help us any up here in Rockingham, please have our worthy member put rightly before the august body, and, if possible, have him placed on committee of the hole on the state of the Southern Confederacy, as he has much experience in that line and will do honor to the position.

Very respectfully,
HENRY BISKET.

MARRIED:

In this City, on the 10th inst., at the residence of J. H. Separk, by the Rev. H. T. Hudson, Mr. W. S. WAINWRIGHT, of Warrenton to Miss MARTHA H. INGRAM, of Franklin County.

On the 4th inst., at the residence of Elisha Banner, Esq., in Mt. Airy, N. C., by the Rev. Mr. Brown, of Hillsville, Va., Mr. SYDNEY C. PAINTER, of Wythe Co., Va., and Miss MARY G. BITTINO, of Mt Airy, N. C.

DR. J. J. LAWRENCE—Dear Sir—Please send me immediately per Express to Tarboro, two dozen more bottles of your Rosadalis. I have carefully examined its formula, and have used it in my practice in a number of cases. I am well pleased with it. I think it, beyond doubt, the best Alterative I ever used. I have tried it in several cases of Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, &c., with much satisfaction to myself and patients. I have also used it in Secondary and Teritary Syphilis, [one a terrible case of eight years' standing,] in which it acted with surprising and satisfactory effect—making a quick and thorough cure. I have, therefore, no hesitation in recommending it to Physicians and others, as the most reliable Alterative now known.
Respectfully yours, &c.,

A Wonderful Cure of Scrofula or White Swelling.
HOME CERTIFICATE.

I hereby certify, that last September I was attacked with White Swelling of the left knee—and also with an enlargement of the glands of the neck—[one tumor reached a large size.] The swelling of the knee was enormous, and was attended with the most excruciating pains. It was so reduced that I was confined to my room for three months. My leg was so completely drawn up, that I could not bend it at all. I tried various remedies, and they failed to give me any relief. I was in this condition when I commenced taking Dr. Lawrence's Rosadalis. The swelling in the knee and neck began to subside before I took all of the first bottle. By the time I took the second bottle, the swelling of the neck entirely disappeared and that of the knee nearly so. After taking three bottles I found myself completely well—able to walk as well as ever, &c.

I suffered so much from them that I could not get out of the house half the time for several months. Being induced to try Dr. Lawrence's Rosadalis, I was entirely cured by the use of one bottle of that truly valuable medicine.

Consumption, in its Early Stage, can be Cured.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 4th, 1867.
Dear Dr. Lawrence—My daughter having been cured of a deeply seated disease of the lungs by your "Rosadalis," I feel it my duty to make the fact known to you for the benefit of others. She suffered nearly two years with a hard cough, which troubled her day and night; at last the emaciated form, glossy eye, night sweats, together with the cough, told too plainly that it was Consumption, beyond question, eating at her vitals. Our Physician's remedies brought no relief. She was advised to try your Rosadalis, as a tonic—which she did—imagine my surprise and gratification, when I found her appetite returning. Slowly she regained her strength, her cough and night sweats gradually ceased, and she is now, after taking five bottles of your medicine, apparently as well as ever.
Yours respectfully,
Mrs. E. ANN SMITH.

Rosadalis cures all Skin Diseases.
Salt Rheum Cured! Remarkable Cure!!

DR. LAWRENCE, Wilson, N. C.:
My Dear Sir—For the last ten years (until recently) I suffered with an inveterate eruption of the skin—called by physicians "salt Rheum," with which I suffered terribly; the pain and itching was almost intolerable. I tried several of the best physicians in Europe and this country—have visited several celebrated Springs—spent thousand of dollars—and failed to get any better. In December 1866, being in Charleston S. C., I was told by a gentleman at the hotel, that he had been cured of a bad tetter by a medicine called "Rosadalis." I resolved to try it, without any hope though of its doing me any good. I procured a bottle of Messrs. King & Cassidey, and commenced taking it. Finding, to my surprise, that I was improving, I bought four other bottles, but before commencing on the last two, I found I was completely well—the disease having entirely disappeared.
Enclosed find "One Hundred Dollars," which please accept as a token of my gratitude. Why do you not make your invaluable Rosadalis widely known?
Your sincere friend,
W. T. SELTZER

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

We are gratified to learn that this philanthropic and benevolent Association, in this City, are making every preparation in their power for a vigorous campaign, the present winter, in the interests of humanity, against want, destitution and suffering. We bid them God speed, and commend their noble exertions to the support and encouragement of the community. Every one can spare a little to subserve the holy purposes of the Association, and we feel sure that their appeals in behalf of the poor will not be suffered to pass unheeded.

At a recent meeting of the Association, the Rev. Wm. S. Lacy, its President, delivered an admirable address, recounting its operations and explanatory of its objects.—We take pleasure in making the following extracts:

"The operations of the Association, owing to the peculiar circumstances, and extreme pressure of the past winter, have been almost solely confined to the relief of the poor. There was no other avenue of systematic relief open to those in want, and with the exception of funds placed in the hands of individuals for distribution, the occasional charity of persons to street beggars, and the partial efforts of different church organizations, (and all these were necessarily limited and unequal in their application,) all the help that was furnished, during a period of unprecedented want, was furnished by the Young Men's Christian Association. More than seventy-five families, some of which were in extreme destitution, were relieved in part or wholly through our operations. More than one thousand dollars collected by our efforts were expended for this object alone; and if the amount of food, clothing and fuel supplied by benevolent organizations at a distance, and especially by the Freedman's Bureau here, under the direction of the Chairman of the Relief Committee, be included in the estimate, the sum would probably reach five thousand dollars. The funds to carry on the schemes of benevolence were largely furnished by the voluntary contributions of the citizens, in response to an appeal made during a season of most urgent need, when severe cold, snow and storm, added their discomforts to the dwellings of the poor. Much was received from abroad, and especially from the cities of Baltimore, New York and Philadelphia. Some was secured to the Association by means of the Lectures instituted under our auspices, and the concerts given in our name. Scarcely a consideration in the estimate are the fees of the members, some still standing uncancelled.

I allude to these operations, brethren, with no spirit of boasting, but to encourage us in the thought, that though like the conies we "are a feeble folk," yet we have been permitted in God's Providence, to accomplish so much, and to demonstrate the necessity of such an organization and means of good, even for this object alone. I have myself been summoned, during the interim of our operations, to visit several different families who received assistance from us. Their words of gratitude and affection for the institution that ministered to them in their distress, and for the almoners who distributed the benefactions, are in themselves more than recompense for the arduous labors. In one dwelling, where cleanliness thrift and christian patience adorned the abode of poverty, a pious mother told me with tears of grateful remembrance, that the snow caught them with no fuel and a scanty supply of food, that her children were crying from hunger and cold, and every hope of help or work was taken away before she made application for relief, and but for the relief afforded, she and her little ones must have perished."

"Many of those who have left pleasant homes and the care and attention of affectionate owners, to seek novelty and chance employment in a city, may suffer. Let us be kind to them; let us show them that we still care for them; let them not think we are estranged from them.

Even the profligate, and the abandoned, when they fall into extreme want, as eventually they must, should not be passed by. A soldier will nurse a wounded foe; and the lesson of relief of suffering in whomever found is taught in the parable of the good Samaritan. A word of kindness, a deed of christian love, may reclaim to rectitude even the fallen.

There is one class to whom we are especially bound; the widows and orphans of deceased Confederate soldiers. The nameless billock on some distant fields that has now worn down to a level with its common earth is too fit an emblem of the forgetfulness that has crept over our hearts and obscured our promises to the stricken household. Can we forget, whether mistaken or not, that they fell for their State, their home and their honor? Oh! no! Too dear is their memory, too precious their sacred dust! Then let us not forget those left behind, whom we pledge to care for and to supply, in return for their valor and sacrifice.

There is immediate help for need. I have been appealed to already by many different parties. We must be up and doing. Let our Committees be diligent and earnest.

I am convinced that our constitution provides the best method for ascertaining the wants and distributing to the necessities of the poor. The ward Committees must by personal inquiry ascertain the needs of those in their ward. The chairman cannot do the whole work; it would consume his time and injure his business. True, it will require time, work and sacrifice, but, fellow-members, we must bow our necks willingly and labor diligently. Every member can aid in this if he will—reporting every case to the ward Committee which he knows worthy of consideration—and the labor thus divided will bear lightly on all.

I cannot close without a practical exhortation. Keep the affairs of the Association near at heart. Let our lives commend it to others. Let us think of the work we have to do, and be earnest and sedulous to perform it. Let us make ready sacrifices to secure our objects. Let us remember that "except the Lord build the house they labor in vain that build it"

We learn that, in furtherance of the charities of the Association, it is proposed to have a series of Lectures during the Winter, and that Gov. Graham, Hon. S. F. Phillips, Hon. Jno. Kerr, Bishop Atkinson and Hon. S. J. Person have each been invited to deliver one. Replies have not as yet been received from any of them. Lectures, by gentlemen so competent to entertain and instruct, would prove a source of attraction and refined gratification, independently of the good that the proceeds resulting from them would accomplish.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Several good Cotton, Stock and Grain farms for rent or lease: Apply to T. H. Atkinson, Boon Hill, N. C.

The next session of Messrs. Mason and Ryan's admirable School for Boys (at the old Raleigh Academy) will commence on the 17th. prox.

Yarborough House, Raleigh,—Reduction of Terms: J. M. Blair.

The store, on the corner of Fayetteville and Martin Streets, at present occupied by S. D. Harrison, Esq., is for rent for 1868: Apply to Dr. P. J. Haywood.

DEAF, DUMB AND BLIND INSTITUTION.—We are pleased to learn, from the last Deaf Mute Casket, that this institution was never in a more prosperous condition than at the present time. Already, eighty-eight pupils have been entered, and the applications received will increase the number to about one hundred.

THE YARBOROUGH HOUSE.—We invite the attention of the public to the advertisement of Mr. Blair, in another column, announcing a reduction in the price of board. This we regard as a highly judicious movement.

It is the concurrent testimony of all who have sojourned at the Yarborough, that it is unsurpassed in all its departments by any Hotel in the South. We have hitherto and often spoken of Mr. Blair's qualifications as a host, but have inadvertently omitted to state, what we now say, that to Mrs. Blair is due much of the credit for the excellence of the House. Her supervisory labors are unceasing, and the cuisine and the general neatness of the whole establishment speak volumes for her admirable housewifery.

A NEW INVENTION—"DIXIE PUMP."—We notice that Maj. W. C. Walker, one of the proprietors of this new invention, has arrived in our City, and is stopping at the Yarborough House. Judging from what has been said of it by some of our numerous exchanges, and from the great success it seems to have met with, wherever exhibited, we should judge that it is a good thing. Some of our enterprising citizens will no doubt investigate the matter, and see that there is money in controlling the patent in Counties or State. Raleigh, being centrally located, affords inducements as a manufacturing town, and if the Pump comes into general use it would add greatly to the income of this place to make it the general manufacturing headquarters for the State.

THE GAME.—We hear it stated that the recent movement of the Standard and its friends to turn out Sheriff Ray, and to provide a new municipal Board for this city, grew out of an excessive anxiety on the part of their friends to provide fat places for Capt. Lee and Mr. Farris, in consideration of their valuable services in the late elections, &c. Farris was particularly anxious, we learn, to get Sheriff's Ray's place, but the superior claims of Capt. Lee for the office of Sheriff led to the nomination of Mr. Farris for Mayor! We simply mention these things as items of news, without knowing whether they are true or false.

ON DIT.—We learn that, on the refusal of Messrs. Lougee and Hesselbach to serve on the new Municipal Board, our old friend Wm. White, Esq., and Mr. J. P. Adams, were put in their places. We have since learned that Mr. White refuses "to have any thing to do with such a mess." Whether Mr. Adams will join "the mess," we have not learned.

"Appletoddy" is the designation given one of the Alabama Convention orators. He worked himself into a fine frenzy. His pants flew away up his legs, and his hair almost tore itself out by the roots as he metaphorically rent the "le lug of the Union" into tatters. The Convention was so affected that it adjourned before he had concluded his remarks.

There has been a debate on baptism at Newton Del., between Messrs. Jump, of the Methodist Episcopal, and Flippo, of the Baptist Church, at the conclusion of which, says a local paper, all the Methodists were converted to sprinkling, and the Baptists to immersion. A great triumph of Messrs. Jump and Flippo.

CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13, P. M.

Senate.—Mr. Sherman reported the House bill repealing the Cotton Tax. It will be considered to-morrow.

The bill for the conversion of the proceeds of captured and abandoned property into the Treasury, was taken up, considered and further postponed.

The joint resolution censuring the President was resumed,—Mr. Johnson having the floor.

The Senate refused concurrence in the House resolution not to adjourn until the bill striking the word "white" from the District laws becomes a law.

House.—Ashley, of Ohio, offered a bill relating to the Freedmen's Bureau. Referred.

Mr. Maynard offered a resolution providing that diplomatic and consular representatives to Hayti and other African governments be selected from negroes. Referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr Schenk made a point of order that under the Constitution no distinctions should be made. The Speaker said the point was well taken.

THE CASE OF STANTON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12, P. M.

The President's message to the Senate, giving his reasons for the suspension of Stanton, is regarded as masterly and wonderfully shrewd.

The President quotes Stanton's reply to his request that he resign, wherein Stanton says:—"Considerations of a high public character lead him to withhold his resignation until the next meeting of Congress." This, the President holds, was defiant and utterly wanting in the respect due from Stanton to his superior officer.

The point is made that Stanton could not appeal to the law creating the War Department, because that law gives the President the right to remove Stanton.

The tenure of office bill alone supported Stanton, but that law did not compel Stanton to retain the office.

The President argues the necessity of unity and harmony among his constitutional advisers; alludes to his having retained, with one exception, the Cabinet of his predecessor, and states unconditionally, that the Cabinet was unanimously in favor of his policy of reconstruction, and upon the unconstitutionality of the tenure of office bill.

Stanton, having been United States Attorney, was specially consulted and was emphatic and absolute in his condemnation of the bill as unconstitutional.

The most pointed and special charge refers to the New Orleans riots. According to the narrative, Gen Baird reported to Stanton the danger of the riot, and asked for advice. Stanton not only withheld instructions to Baird, but kept the dispatch from the President and his Cabinet until after the occurrence of the riot. The President holds, had Stanton acted himself, or made the message from Baird known to his superiors, the riot would have been prevented. He produces a letter from Sheridan, to the effect that had he been advised of the danger, the riot could have been avoided.

THE VIRGINIA CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

RICHMOND, Dec. 12, P. M.

In the Conservative Convention, this morning, a Committee reported a series of resolutions which were unanimously adopted, as follows:

The first recognizes that, by the results of the war, slavery is abolished, and it is not the desire of the people of Virginia to reduce to slavery again a people emancipated by the events of the war and by amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

The second asserts the right of Virginia to be restored to the Union, and declares her intention, in good faith, to perform her duties to the Union.

The third protests against the governing of Virginia in any way not defined in the Federal Constitution.

The fourth adopts the language of a resolution adopted at Cooper Institute, New York, that military government is subversive of the fundamental ideas of our government, and its object, which is to subject the people of the Southern States to the rule of a race just emerged from slavery, is abhorrent to the civilization of mankind, and to the Northern people, in surrendering, as it does, a third of the Senate and a quarter of the House of Representatives, which are to legislate over us, to the dominion of an organized class of emancipated slaves, who are without any of the training, habits or traditions of self government.

The fifth disclaims all hostility to the black population, and asserts that the people of Virginia sincerely desire to see them advanced in intelligence, and are willing to extend to them liberal protection; but while any Constitution adopted by the State should make all men equal before the law, yet this Convention distinctly declare that the governments of the States and the Union were formed by white men, to be subject to their control, and suffrage should still be regulated so as to continue both under the control and direction of the white race.

Sixth, That the people of Virginia will co-operate with all men, throughout the Union, of whatever name or party, who will labor to restore the Constitutional Union of the States, and continue its government under the control of the white race.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the Central Executive Committee to take steps testing the constitutionality of the Reconstruction Acts in the U. S. Supreme Court.

In the discussion of this resolution, Gen. Imboden, who had sued out a mandamus against Gen. Schofield, stated that his case, with similar ones relative to suffrage in Alabama and Mississippi, would be carried to the Supreme Court.

The President was authorized to appoint a committee to prepare an address to the people of Virginia and the United States.

The Convention then adjourned sine die.

After the adjournment, Hon. R. M. T. Hunter, in answer to calls, made a short address in which he said that between negro and military rule he preferred the latter, for the men who wielded the latter were of his own race. To give the blacks the power of the government in the Southern States would be the highest crime against nature, and he believed when the North saw the results, there would be a re-action which would sweep such governments from the face of America.

VIRGINIA RECONSTRUCTION CONVENTION.

RICHMOND, Dec. 12, P. M.

In the Reconstruction Convention, to-day, a colored delegate offered a resolution appointing a committee of five to investigate what can be done to put a stop to the intimidation of loyal men, who are not land-holders, who voted the Republican ticket and who are distressed therefor by disloyal land-holders.

Three colored and two white Republicans spoke in favor, and three Conservatives opposed the resolution. The speeches took a wide political range.

LIFE INSURANCE.

[From the Insurance Monitor and Wall Street Review, New York.]

A Well-deserved Success—The Equitable Life Insurance Company.

The approaching demolition of seven buildings, consisting of that almost immemorial landmark, "Old Guerrin's," the less ancient "Standinger's," and the present office-building of the American Express Company, on the Southeast corner of Broadway and Cedar street, together with three adjoining buildings on the latter street, is attributable to that modern insurance giant, the Equitable Life. These seven buildings are to be replaced by one, six stories in height, including basement, and having a frontage of 56 feet 6 inches on Broadway, and one hundred and thirty-seven feet four inches on Cedar street. A number of the first architects in the country are engaged in perfecting plans for the structure, so as to make it in style, accommodation, and convenience, superior to any other building of the kind yet erected.

The building will, however, not only be made to accommodate the Company, but so arranged that the rental of such part as is not occupied by them will return an interest on the investment. The magnitude and surpassing growth of the Equitable Life not only justify this solid investment, but render it both expedient and necessary. Although this Company has been only eight years in business, its policies issued during its eighth year covered an insurance amounting to over thirty-five millions of dollars. The total sum assured by it up to the present date approaches 100,000,000; its accumulations have run up to 5,000,000; its annual income to three millions, and will in the ensuing year doubtless expand to five million dollars.

For this rapid increase and substantial success there are abundant and most satisfactory reasons. They are found in the numerous solid advantages the Company affords. In the fact that it is purely mutual, and that all its profits go to the assured on the first of February, every year, at which time a large dividend has been regularly paid, amounting last year to six hundred thousand dollars. Its mode of applying dividends so as to accommodate them to the circumstances of the policy holders, is unequalled for the variety of the advantages it offers.

The Equitable has been content to deal thus liberally with its insured in consequence of the prosperity of its business and the thriftiness of its management. The percentage of its "total out go," compared with its cash premium receipts, was less in 1866 than that of any older Company. Its policies average larger in amount than those of any rival institution. It insures on a single life any sum from $250 to $250,000, and issues all the most desirable non-forfeiting policies. "All its policies are, however, comparatively new, and it is therefore carrying but few impaired lives. Its percentage of losses, to amount at risk, which is much less than that of older Companies, exhibits this fact. The Equitable is, indeed, full of vitality and progressive strength, and is regarded as the most successful and taking into consideration its age—the largest Life Insurance Company in

DAILY SENTINEL.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1867.

BED TIME.

Rosebud lay in her trundle bed,
With her small hands folded above her head;
And fixed her innocent eyes on me,
While a thoughtful shadow came over their glee.
"Mamma," said she, "when I go to sleep,
I pray to the Father my soul to keep;
And he comes and carries it far away,
To the beautiful home where his angels stay;
I gather red roses and lilies so white,
I sing with the angels through all the long night;
And when, in the morning, I wake from my sleep,
He gives back the soul that I gave him to keep,
And I only remember, like beautiful dreams,
The garlands of lilies, the wonderful streams."

[Little Corporal

From the Land We Love.

At the battle of the Wilderness, a Georgia regiment, after a hard day's fighting, was encamped for the night on a part of the field where the contest had been most sanguinary. A member of this regiment was a jolly good "son of the Emerald Isle," who being much fatigued after the day's honest fighting, was searching about for a soft spot, where he might repose his weary frame, and enjoy, for an hour or so, the luxury of undisturbed slumber. A few yards in the rear of the line, Pat discovered a cot, or stretcher, that had been abandoned by some of the Medical Corps. The exhausted soldier blessed the Medical Department and his lucky stars, and immediately ensconced himself upon the cot; soon he was in the enjoyment of slumbers the most profound; they were, however, of brief duration, for Pat was aroused by the sound of a number of voices around him.—Startled and confused, he fancied he was in the hands of sanguinary Yanks; the poor fellow uttered a despairing groan, which was responded to by a sympathetic though rather rough voice, saying "this is the fate of war, my good man—exercise patience and control, and we will soon fix your flint—lift him and proceed."

"What in the d—l do you mane, ain't I an irregular prisoner of war, do you not give quarters on your side, or is it murder that ye're after?"

"Keep quiet, my good fellow, talking will only superinduce additional hemorrhage, we will take your leg off as promptly as possible."

At this O'Brian springs from the cot, in which he had remained for some time, from utter bewilderment.

"By the powers of Moll Kelly, you murdering, hatben Yanks shall have no leg of Pat O'Brian this blessed night. I don't surrender. I breaks my pat. role." With these remarks he made a hasty retreat, very much to the astonishment of the surgeons, who, it seems, had left in a cot a soldier with a shattered leg—they intending to return for him when an important demand for their prompt services had been complied with.

Just prior to Pat's occupation of the cot, a regular army ambulance, in passing, conveyed the seriously wounded soldier to the hospital.

O'Brian now resides in Augusta, Ga. He constantly interests his friends with wonderful accounts of narrow escapes, and shudders when narrating the salvation of himself and leg at the Wilderness.
